Position Description

Cashier: Greet customers, take order, process order on a touch screen POS System, accept payment and give change and receipt.

Ice Cream Sales: Prepare and serve ice cream products to the public at a seasonal (May through August) ice cream shop. Work will be available from May until September.

Ice Cream Maker: Training will be provided in making ice cream with a 20 quart batch freezer. Ice cream will be made daily to be served at the ice cream shop. Hours will be approximately 7:00 AM to 3:00 PM. Prior kitchen/cooking experience is desirable and heavy lifting and upper body strength is required. Hourly wage will increase as work proficiency increases.

Housing

I will communicate with you via email to determine what sort of housing you are interested in and whether you are interested in sharing an apartment with other J-1 workers. In April I will begin to search for specific housing options and let you know what is available for May through August. The cost of housing can have a wide range depending upon the type of housing. At this point I am estimating the cost at $150.00 per person per week. I will be able to post more accurate information as we get closer to May.

Cultural Opportunities

Many cultural opportunities available in the area. The type of activity depends primarily upon the desire of the individual, but easy access to bicycling, canoeing, hiking, and other outdoor activities are available. The city of Fairbanks and the greater Fairbanks area is home to a number of attractions and events, which draw visitors from outside of Alaska throughout the year. Summer tourist traffic primarily consists of cruise ship passengers who purchase package tours which include travel to Fairbanks. Many of these tourists spend one or more nights at a local hotel and visit one or more attractions. Fairbanks is home to the University of Alaska and the Museum of the North. It is also an international center for Polar Region Studies. Listed below are some links that may be of interest. www.explorefairbanks.com/
